

Academic Job Application Workshop

A “Preparing Future Faculty” Event

When: Friday March 28, 12:00 - 3:00 p.m.
Where: Webb Center Newport News Room
Refreshments will be served.

Are you beginning to think about looking for an academic job? Wondering what to include in your application? What your vita should look like? Who to ask for letters of recommendation? Come and hear from faculty experienced in the process.

Learn how to prepare your most effective job application package. Topics will include identifying jobs that fit, interpreting job ad language, updating your CV, and writing an effective cover letter.

Also gain insight from faculty who have served on search committees. Topics will include an overview of the search process, suggestions for surviving the job interview, and how to give an effective job talk.

All graduate students are welcome so bring a friend. We hope to see you there!
