Geography Faculty

Old Dominion University invites applications for two fulltime one year faculty appointments in its Geography Program to begin August 2008. Rank: Instructor or Visiting Assistant Professor. A Masters degree in Geography is required; a Ph.D. degree is required for appointment as a Visiting Assistant Professor. Courses to be taught include (1) cultural and political geography, cities of the world, and world resources (teaching via distance learning an advantage); and (2) environmental geography, hazards, maps and geographic information, and spatial analysis of coastal environments. Effective communication skills and demonstrated teaching ability required. For more information on the geography program see <http://al.odu.edu/pols-geog/academics/geog/>

Submit an application letter, CV, statement of teaching philosophy, evidence of teaching excellence, and two letters of reference to: Geography Search Committee, Department of Political Science and Geography, Old Dominion University, Norfolk, VA 23529-0088. Review of applications will begin on April 21, 2008 and continue until the positions are filled. Old Dominion University is an equal opportunity, affirmative action institution and requires compliance with the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986.
