

Graduate Research Workshop Series
Old Dominion University Libraries
Fall 2010

Graduate students, faculty and staff are welcome to attend. Registration is required.

Orientation for Grad Assistants: Putting the Library to Work for You, Wed., Sept. 8th, 11- 12 noon and repeated on Sat., Sept. 11th, 10-11 am in Library 163

Graduate research and teaching assistants will learn how to take advantage of important library services to help them accomplish their work with ease.

Using EndNote with Library Databases, Saturday, Sept. 11, 10-11:30am, Tuesday, Sept. 28, 3-4:30pm, Perry Library 163;

Learn how to use EndNote, a powerful tool for organizing and managing bibliographic citations. You can easily export citations directly from library databases and create automatic bibliographies and in-text citations in your Word documents using Cite-while-you-write.

Literature Review in Education and Psychology, Saturday, October 16, 10-11:30am, Perry Library 3rd floor, Research Commons

Thousands of journal articles, dissertations, government publications and other resources can be found online through various library online subscriptions services. Experience how to do a thorough literature review in psychology and education, using the library's research databases.

Using EndNote with Library Databases, Saturday, October 23, 10-11:30am, Perry Library 3rd floor, Research Commons

Learn how to use EndNote, a powerful tool for organizing and managing bibliographic citations. You can easily export citations directly from library databases and create automatic bibliographies and in-text citations in your Word documents using Cite-while-you-write.

Literature Review in the Social Sciences and Business, Saturday, November 6, 10-11:30am, Perry Library 3rd floor, Research Commons

Thousands of journal articles, dissertations, government publications and other resources can be found online through various library online subscriptions services. Experience how to do a thorough literature review in the social sciences and business, using the library's research databases.

Searching the Major Sciences Databases, Saturday, November 13, 2 – 3:30pm, Perry Library 3rd floor, Research Commons

During this workshop, the major databases in the science disciplines of Biological Sciences, Chemical Sciences, Geology, Mathematics, Oceanography, Physics and Psychology will be demonstrated. Afterwards, participants will have the opportunity to reserve a future time with Edward Wladas for an in-depth exploration of a particular science database.