

Who to see for advising regarding study abroad courses...

All courses taken on an approved study abroad or exchange program should be pre-approved (this means before you leave!) by a faculty advisor at Old Dominion. You should pick up a copy of the Transfer Credit Evaluation form used for this purpose in the Office of Study Abroad. The study abroad advisor will also be able to assist you in obtaining course descriptions for your program – faculty advisors will need to see these in order to determine whether a course is acceptable.

Although you should meet with your regular advisor to discuss progress toward your degree, courses will need to be approved the appropriate faculty advisor in each department. This may take time, so do not put this off until the week before you leave.

Finally, please remember that it is always wise to get at least a few extra courses approved so that you have options if you are not able to register for your top choices. Listing courses on the Transfer Credit Evaluation does not commit you to taking those courses – it simply means that you are guaranteed the credit will transfer as long as you earn the equivalent of a “C” or better.
