Tax Sheltered Annuity Deferred Compensation

Great News

The IRS contribution limits for Tax Sheltered Annuity and Deferred Compensation plans have increased for 2013. The maximum amount an employee will be allowed to contribute is $17,500. If you are 50 years of age or older you may defer as much as $23,000 in 2013.

Old Dominion University offers optional supplemental retirement plans that allow employees to tax-defer income, while investing for the future. The University offers several 403(b) plans and the Commonwealth’s Deferred Compensation 457(b) plan. Both of these plans are open to all employees who may contribute the minimum of $20 to a 403b plan or $10.00 to the Deferred Compensation plan per pay period. Full-time employee’s contributions will be matched at 50 percent up to a maximum of $40.00 per month.

Breaks and Private Space for Nursing Mothers

The Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) was amended by the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act and employers are now required to provide reasonable break-time for a non-exempt employee to express breast milk for her nursing child. While the amendment does not specifically cover exempt employees, supervisors are encouraged to provide them with reasonable time and private space to express milk as well.

In order to comply with this amendment, supervisors must:

1. Provide reasonable break time for nursing mothers to express milk. This practice should be allowed each time the employee has the need to express breast milk. The frequency of the breaks as well as the duration of each break will likely vary.
2. Permit nursing mothers to express milk for one year after the child’s birth.
3. Provide a functional place, other than a bathroom, that is shielded from view and free from intrusion from co-workers and the public. (Note: A space temporarily created or converted into a space for expressing milk or made available when needed by the nursing mother is sufficient provided that the space is shielded from view and free from intrusion from co-workers and the public.)

Employers are not required to compensate nursing mothers for breaks under this new amendment; however, if an employer already provides compensated breaks, an employee who uses that break time to express milk must be compensated in the same way that other employees are compensated for break time.

Current State policy permits break times for employees and encourages non-paid break times when accommodating return-to-work, ADA, or other conditions. Supervisors may adjust employees work schedules as appropriate to ensure that such breaks are permitted.

Telework

Due to changes on Government Reform and Restructuring, DHRM has broadened the telework categories. Therefore, we have revised the telework agreement form. If you are interested in teleworking or if it is time to update your telework agreement, please make sure to complete the most recent form on our website and submit it to the Department of Human Resources.

Joint Employment

Joint employment occurs when a University employee occupies two or more positions within the University. Joint employment frequently results in complications under the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA).

If the individual considered for part-time employment (academic support services position, adjunct faculty position, or wage position) is already a University employee, the Department of Human Resources must conduct a review to ensure compliance with the FLSA. The University may have an overtime obligation depending upon the status of the employee’s primary job.

Non-exempt primary job: the employee must be paid one and one-half hours of overtime for all hours worked in the second job, even if the second job’s duties are exempt. The only exception to this requirement is if the extra work outside the primary job is done on an “occasional or sporadic basis” in a “substantially different capacity” from the employee’s primary job and at the employee’s own volition. (Example, a fiscal assistant in the Office of Finance proctors a test on Saturday twice a semester.)

Exempt primary job: if the duties of the second job are exempt, there are no overtime issues. If the duties of the second job are non-exempt, at least 50% of the duties in both jobs combined must be exempt or an overtime obligation exists, and the employee will lose the exempt status in his/her primary job.

It is our practice that an employee in a non-exempt position not be hired into an exempt position due to the complexity of tracking hours to determine whether there is an overtime obligation and to avoid any fiscal issue in regards to which department would be charged for the overtime pay.

The hiring supervisor of the employee’s primary job must concur with the appointment to the secondary job to ensure there is no conflict between the two positions and that the employee’s effectiveness in the primary job will not be jeopardized.

Name Change

If you have a name change, the new social security card with the new name must be submitted to Human Resources. This does not apply to student employees. Name changes will not be processed in the Payroll system until the new social security card is received per University policy #1070 and IRS regulations.

Flexible Holiday

The Payroll Office has posted eight (8) hours of Flexible Holiday Leave to employee leave accounts and the leave was available for use beginning on December 25, 2012. Scheduling Flexible Holiday Leave is subject to supervisory approval. The Flexible Holiday Leave will expire on June 9, 2013.

This flexible holiday time was granted by the Governor when he closed Executive Branch offices on December 26th. Since ODU employees were already scheduled to be off on December 26th, the University provided this time to eligible employees as Flexible Holiday Leave. Full time classified employees, administrative and professional faculty and full time teaching faculty are eligible for the Flexible Holiday Leave.

Please contact Human Resources if you have questions about this leave.
We are pleased to announce that funding is available to support the University Staff Dream Fund program. First launched in 2008, this program, which is privately funded through an endowment, will provide monetary awards up to $2,000 and up to five days of paid time off for a staff member to fulfill a long-held dream—to pursue studies in an area unrelated to work, traveling to another country or visiting family far away, for example. The awards are not intended to address personal hardship situations, emergencies or job-related professional development.

Applications will be reviewed by a selection committee that includes representatives from the President’s office, each vice presidential area, HACE and AUA. Recipients will be selected on the merits of their proposal, their past service and promise of future service. The winner will be announced in April and funding will be made available in July.

Eligibility: Full-time classified employees and full-time administrative and professional faculty who have worked at the University for a minimum of five years. Applicants must also have satisfactory or higher performance evaluations and no active disciplinary actions. Proposals are due to the Department of Human Resources by March 4, 2013. A description of the program, including selection criteria and a proposal form, are available on the Human Resources’ web site. http://www.odu.edu/ao/humanresources/recognition/dreamfund.shtml

Proposal Packets must contain:

- Letter stating the dream, the reasons for it and a budget;
- Letter of support from a direct supervisor indicating the candidate is a valuable and meritorious employee;
- Letter of support from an Old Dominion University colleague;
- Brief resume;
- Statement of intent to remain at Old Dominion for the foreseeable future.

Note: Proposals must be received in Human Resources not later than close of business on Monday, March 4, 2013.

If you have questions or require assistance in completing a proposal packet, please contact Tony Belk, e-mail - jbelk@odu.edu or 683-3046 in the Department of Human Resources.
