SECTION I. POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

OVERVIEW
Each day in Virginia's schools, more than 20,000 students with disabilities are taught by over 2,500 educators who have minimal preparation for the challenges they face. At issue is the need for highly qualified and fully licensed special education teachers, which is expanding at a faster rate than the capacity of traditional teacher preparation programs to respond. Concomitantly, Virginia schools and teachers, like all schools and teachers across the United States, are subject to the increasing pressure of the heightened teacher preparation standards presented by the Every Student Succeeds Act and the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act.

Old Dominion University's (ODU) response to the growing educational needs of Virginia's children with disabilities, the shortage of special educators, and teacher preparation mandates was to design and to implement the Commonwealth Special Education Endorsement Programs. The primary mission of these programs is to ensure a high-quality education for Virginia's children with disabilities through the provision of readily accessible paths to full licensure for provisionally licensed special education teachers and qualifying non-licensed school division personnel.

Through grants funded by the Virginia Department of Education (VDOE), the Darden College of Education and Professional Studies of Old Dominion University provides online endorsement programs for special educators and non-licensed school division personnel in the Commonwealth of Virginia. A collaboration has been developed among Virginia public schools and universities, state-operated programs, the Virginia Department of Education, and Old Dominion University to accomplish the following program goals:

• Utilize satellite, television, interactive technology, the Internet, and other electronic communication to provide high quality special education courses to identified individuals throughout the Commonwealth of Virginia;
• Establish a collaborative relationship among the Commonwealth's public school systems and state operated programs, the Virginia Department of Education, and Old Dominion University to facilitate full licensure for special education teachers with provisional licensure and qualifying non-licensed school personnel who wish to become special educators;
• Integrate content knowledge, technology standards, instructional strategies, and the Virginia Standards of Learning throughout the course work, using evidence-based practices;
• Evaluate all components of the project including curriculum design, course content, teacher application of knowledge and skills, and overall success in providing full endorsement for special education teachers in Virginia;
• Assess teacher retention of grant participants; and
• Assess P-12 student academic and non-academic change over time in grant participants' classrooms.

The Commonwealth Special Education Endorsement Programs (CSEEP) are designed to overcome the significant geographic, opportunity, and cost barriers that prevent these teachers and school personnel from having access to the special education courses necessary to complete the requirements for full licensure. Many participants in the Commonwealth Special Education Endorsement Programs are place-bound in locations that are distant from established licensure programs. CSEEP courses are delivered via web conferencing and asynchronous online methods. Classes are tailored to the needs of working professionals, and most are delivered in convenient formats. All classes necessary for a special education teaching endorsement are delivered each academic year.

Other participants often are unable to assume the costs of additional course work. To address these barriers, key components of CSEEP include classes scheduled at times convenient for working professionals, a variety of course delivery modalities, and tuition assistance and/or discounts for grant participants.

The Commonwealth Special Education Endorsement Programs are a clear success: to date, they have enabled over 2000 teachers to achieve full licensure and to acquire the skills necessary to educate their students with disabilities. As another measure of CSEEP’s success, several national awards have recognized this innovative, effective, and streamlined teacher preparation program. The Commonwealth Special Education Endorsement Programs are funded annually by the Virginia Department of Education. Additional years of grant funded tuition support will be contingent upon Virginia Department of Education grant awards.

The Virginia Consortium for Teacher Preparation in Special Education Adapted Curriculum (SD Consortium)*
The Virginia Consortium for Teacher Preparation in Special Education Adapted Curriculum (SD Consortium) is comprised of five state-approved teacher preparation programs in special education: adapted curriculum K-12. Participating universities are George Mason University; Norfolk State University; Radford University; James Madison University; and Old Dominion University. The consortium’s primary goal is to prepare teachers across the commonwealth to be highly skilled and effective in teaching learners with severe and multiple disabilities. The program is designed to accelerate the training for teachers with newly-issued provisional licenses and to increase the number of fully endorsed teachers by providing training to full-time pre-service personnel. SD Consortium courses will be delivered via distance formats using videoconferencing and web modalities. Faculty experts in severe disabilities from the five universities teach the required classes. Applicants must have bachelor's degrees from regionally accredited universities.

George Mason University is the lead university for this consortium. More information on the consortium in general can be found at this GMU link.

Completion of the VI program meets the Virginia Department of Education's required competencies for teachers of students with blindness and visual impairments. Classes are offered through a combination of video conferencing, asynchronous classes, and face-to-face meetings. Through video conferencing, participants are able to experience real-time, interactive, multipoint instruction among the three universities. George Mason University is the lead university for this consortium. More information on the consortium in general can be found at this GMU link.

Provisional Licensure
The Provisional License is a nonrenewable license valid for a period not to exceed three years issued to an individual who has allowable deficiencies for full licensure as set forth in this chapter....Individuals shall complete all requirements for licensure, including passing all licensure assessments, for a renewable license within the validity period of the Provisional License. The individual shall have a minimum of an earned baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited college or university, with the exception of those individuals seeking the Technical Professional License. (Virginia Licensure Regulations for School Personnel, Virginia Department of Education, 2018.)

Teacher Candidate Internship (Student Teaching) for Non-Provisionally Licensed Participants
Full (10 year) renewable teaching licenses in Virginia require two components: course work and supervised classroom experience in the endorsement area sought. PPET participants do not hold special education teaching licenses and therefore cannot meet the supervised classroom experience requirement in their current job placements. Because of their current non-licensed status, PPET participants have two ways to meet the experience component of full licensure: (a) employment as a special educator under a provisional license or (b) teacher candidate internship (student teaching).

(a) Employment as a Special Educator. PPET participants are eligible for hire by any school division on a provisional license at any point after they have completed a qualifying bachelor's degree and a course on legal aspects of special education and characteristics of disabilities (SPED 400/500 at ODU). The provisional license requires that the participant complete all necessary remaining coursework in the areas on the license and a year of successful teaching in the endorsement area.
stated on the license before the expiration date of the license. In this scenario, PPET participants would not have to arrange for student teaching as long as their employers will officially verify their teaching in the endorsement area in lieu of student teaching.

(b) Teacher Candidate Internship (Student Teaching). PPET participants who are not holding provisional licenses and plan not to obtain employment/licensure before finishing the PPET program will have to arrange a teacher candidate internship through Old Dominion University's Office of Clinical Experiences (OCE). Teacher Candidate Internship Requirements can be found on the OCE website. The PPET grant will approve a teacher candidate internship for eligible participants. This must be arranged in advance through the CSEEP office.

SECTION III. FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. How do I get more information about these programs?
Visit our website for an orientation, information, data, and forms for the CSEEP programs.

2. Can participants use course work from other universities to satisfy endorsement requirements?
Yes. Course work taken at another university may be used to satisfy endorsement requirements upon the discretion of the grant advisor at Old Dominion University. An official copy of the transcript and a course description will be requested before attributing credit.

3. How will participants know what courses to take and when to take them?
The advisor will review transcripts and the Virginia Department of Education's documentation (if applicable) to determine remaining courses necessary for full endorsement. This information will be provided to the participant in the course approval letter(s).

4. Where will participants take the courses?
Participants will take courses via on-campus meetings (where available), web conferencing, and asynchronous modalities.
5. How will grant participants complete practicum requirements?
For provisionally licensed teachers, practicum requirements can be completed within the participant’s current classroom setting since the student population matches the specific endorsement course work expectations. Non-licensed participants may have to arrange to complete practicum hours in an appropriate classroom, including contacting the Office of Clinical Experiences (OCE), if necessary, for an official placement.

6. Will participants be required to complete a teacher candidate internship (student teaching)?
Provisionally licensed teachers will have their school divisions verify their classroom experience with official paperwork to the Virginia Department of Education in lieu of student teaching. Program participants without valid provisional licenses will have to arrange student teaching experiences through Old Dominion University’s Office of Clinical Experiences (OCE). All OCE requirements for student teaching must be met.

7. Can participants be endorsed in more than one area through the program?
No. All CSEEP & PPET participants must seek the special education: general curriculum endorsement. Participants in the VI Consortium may seek endorsement only in blindness and visual impairments K-12. Participants in the SD Consortium may seek endorsement only in adapted curriculum.

8. How many courses can a participant take in a year?
In the CSEEP program, participants may receive tuition assistance for one course per semester (three total in an academic year, which includes fall, spring, and summer semesters) when funds are available. Additional course work may be discounted at the discretion of the CSEEP office. VI and SD participants may receive tuition assistance for unlimited courses per year when adequate funds are available.

9. Does the grade a participant receives in a course affect continued participation in the grant?
Yes. CSEEP, PPET, and SD Consortium participants must earn a minimum grade of B- in each endorsement course supported by grant funds/discounts. Participants in the VI Consortium program must earn a B or better in each endorsement course supported by grant funds/discounts. If a participant earns a grade of less than B- (exception: BVI course work requires a B or better) in a grant-funded/discounted course, tuition support/discounts from CSEEP will cease at the end of the session or semester in which the course was taken. The participant will be placed on inactive status and no other funds/discounts will be applied to the participant’s account for following sessions or semesters.

To regain grant funding/discounts, the participant may retake the course at their own expense and document successful completion of the course to the grant office. The participant may also have to reapply to the grant, including being placed on a waiting list. The equivalent of this course may be taken at another college or university after receiving approval from the grant advisor. There will be no further tuition assistance/discounts from CSEEP until the course has been successfully retaken, documented, and the grant office has been informed.

There are also university requirements associated with earned grades and grade point averages (GPAs). See question #15 for further information.
10. What are the consequences for dropping a class after the drop/add deadline?
If a participant drops a grant funded/discounted course after the drop/add deadline, the participant will be required to inform the CSEEP grant office directly. Grant funds/discounts will be withdrawn from the participant's student account and the participant may then be required to pay the entire tuition of the dropped course including any added fees. The participant may choose to file a tuition appeal.

11. What are the consequences if a participant receives an incomplete (I) grade in a grant-funded/discounted course?
If a participant receives an I grade in a course supported by grant funds/discounts, the individual will have one semester to satisfactorily complete any outstanding course work and receive a grade of B- or better (exception: BVI course work requires a B or better). It is the participant's responsibility to contact his or her instructor immediately upon receiving an I grade and complete the required course work. An I will automatically change to an F at the end of the following semester if the instructor has not entered a change of grade. At that point, the conditions as stated in question #9 will apply. It is also the participant's responsibility to know what grade he or she has received for each class.

12. In addition to course requirements, are there any other responsibilities of grant participants?
Yes. See Grant Participant Responsibilities in the preceding Responsibilities section. Additionally, grant participants are asked to complete the Pre-Task Rating Form within 2 weeks of notification of acceptance to the grant program and the Post Task Rating Form during the last semester of participation. If the Pre/Post Task Rating Form (PTRF) is not submitted within the specified time period, further tuition assistance/discounts or the College Verification Form required by the Virginia Department of Education will be withheld until complete. Any fees assessed by the university on the participants’ accounts will be the responsibility of the participant.

13. When should the participant pay his or her portion of the tuition?
The participant portion of the tuition must be paid on or before the designated ODU tuition payment deadline. The participant must not wait for a bill, nor should the participant wait for the posting of the grant funds/discounts. Waiting to pay may result in a late or collection fee. In the case that late or collection fees are applied, the participant will be responsible for their portion of the tuition as well as any late or collection fee on their portion. For all tuition and academic deadlines, please check the websites of the ODU Offices of Finance and the Registrar. Any tuition assistance is added to participants' accounts after the tuition deadline.

14. What is the procedure for receiving an endorsement once the participant has completed the course work requirements?
The grant office must receive all required assessment documents (Post Task Rating Form and any other assessment instrument(s)) before processing a recommendation for endorsement. Once endorsement requirements have been met, the grant director will send an official letter indicating completion of the program to the grant participant. Participants are responsible for providing their employing education agencies a copy of the letter of verification. The employing agency then will make application to the Virginia Department of Education for licensure.
15. Are there other grade requirements that CSEEP and PPET participants must meet?
All graduate students (CSEEP participants included) must maintain a 3.00 grade point average to remain eligible to register for classes at ODU. Although the grant accepts a B- (exception: BVI course work requires a B or better), all B- grades must be offset with B+ or A grades to meet graduate GPA requirements at ODU. All grant participants must adhere to the graduate policies and procedures.

QUESTIONS RELATED TO SEEKING ENROLLMENT IN THE ODU MASTER’S DEGREE PROGRAM

1. May a student who is in the CSEEP programs also pursue a master’s degree at ODU?
Many grant participants choose to enter the master’s degree program to seek a teaching endorsement and a master’s degree concurrently, as some programs have many courses in common. For entrance criteria, applications, and updated information, please visit the program website. Note that ODU does not offer a master’s degree with endorsement in blindness and visual impairment K-12, nor is the ODU master’s degree program with endorsement in adapted curriculum K-12 compatible with the SD consortium program.

2. May a student who currently is in the Old Dominion University Special Education Master’s Degree Program also participate in the grant?
Yes. If an individual meets the established grant criteria, they may become a grant participant.
