Faculty Senate Issue Log Form

Date-Submitted: November 13, 2023

Title-of-Issue: Peer review of course portfolio for first year faculty should be postponed to their second semester of employment.

Description: The portfolio review policy requires the faculty to include grade distributions in their portfolio. Grade distributions are a very important part of the review process. First-year faculty are required to submit their portfolio by November 15. Grade distributions for their first semester are not available at that time. I think the submission date for first-year faculty should be postponed to a date that grade distributions for their first semester have become available.

Rationale: The change makes the review possible.
