Performance Document Management Fee

Effective July 1, 2009, Human Resources will charge a $50.00 late fee to departments for each classified evaluation that is not submitted by close of business on October 25 and for each classified position description/performance plan that is not certified by close of business on December 1.

The time line for classified employee annual performance evaluations and position description review/certifications has not changed during the past 10 years. Evaluations may be submitted anytime between August 10 and October 25 each year. Position descriptions are certified anytime after the evaluation is completed and not later than December 1st.

Both processes are initiated by supervisors in PAPERS software and sent electronically to the reviewer for approval prior to the supervisor meeting with the employee to review. The evaluation process concludes with the supervisor’s electronic submission of the evaluation to Human Resources – not later than October 25. The position description certification concludes with the employee’s electronic submission of the position description to Human Resources – not later than December 1.

Human Resources continues to offer on-line training modules, on-going one-on-one assistance to supervisors and employees about the evaluation and certification processes and the PAPERS software and classroom training sessions each year. Despite the advance notice and on-going service available (and the fact that this process is the same every year) many evaluations and certifications were not submitted timely. Considerable work hours have been required following up with supervisors who have not submitted evaluations on time and other work and service are negatively impacted.

External factors will be taken into consideration and certain situations are exempt from the fee such as when an employee is out on short term disability or active military duty THROUGHOUT September and October. Employees and/or supervisors who expect to travel or be on leave at the end of October should plan to have evaluations submitted to Human Resources prior to the deadline in order to avoid the late fee.

Decisions about exemptions to the late fee will be at the discretion of the Director of Human Resources. Fees collected will be used to support the annual recognition program for classified employees.

If you have any questions about this process, please contact Kathy Williamson at 683-4564 regarding evaluations or Nadine Faulcon-Johnson at 683-3067 regarding position descriptions.

Extraordinary Contributors

Attention Supervisors! If you supervise an employee who has made a significant contribution to your work unit – either a specific project or activity OR on-going consistent excellence – the time to acknowledge that contribution is NOW! Best management practices guide us to acknowledge employee contributions immediately. The Performance Planning and Evaluation Policy says:

"Extraordinary Contributor: This rating recognizes the work that is characterized by exemplary accomplishments throughout the performance cycle and performance that considerably and consistently surpasses the criteria of the job function. To be eligible to receive an overall rating of Extraordinary Contributor, an employee must have received at least one documented Acknowledgement of Extraordinary Contribution form during the rating cycle. However, receipt of this form does not guarantee or necessarily warrant an overall rating of Extraordinary Contributor (emphasis added)."

If you determine that your employee’s performance warrants an overall evaluation rating of Extraordinary Contributor, you must have acknowledged that employee’s contribution PRIOR TO the evaluation period (starts August 10). The only exception to this requirement is if the employee’s extraordinary contribution OCCURS during the August/September evaluation processing time-frame.

The Acknowledgement of Extraordinary Contribution form is available at the HR website. It requires several approvals and should be presented to the employee once the approval signatures are obtained. A copy of the form must be electronically attached to the evaluation to support an overall extraordinary rating.

HR cannot accept Acknowledgement of Extraordinary Contribution Forms that are generated at the conclusion of the evaluation cycle to support the overall Extraordinary rating. If this occurs, supervisors will be required to reduce the rating to Contributor. Supervisors are encouraged to take time now to acknowledge the extraordinary contributions of their employees – so that they are positioned to award the overall extraordinary contributor rating on the annual evaluation.

Please contact Kathy Williamson at 683-4564 if you have questions or need assistance with this important feature of performance management!

  If the panel physician prescribes light or modified duty, report to work; modified, light or transitional duty will in most cases be available. You are not excused from reporting for duty unless the panel physician excuses you.

United We Serve Encourages Volunteerism

President Obama recently announced a new summer service initiative. United We Serve is a sustained, collaborative and focused summer-long effort to meet community needs and make service a way of life for all Americans. As Americans and Virginians, we have a unique opportunity to come together and solve our nation’s most vexing problems. Governor Kaine encourages Virginians to organize friends and neighbors within our community, identify unmet needs, create service projects, and network with others who have similar skills or interests. The initiative will encourage participation across a wide range of service areas, with particular emphasis on projects that address the economic situation and help America recover. The areas of emphasis are:

- Promoting clean energy, energy efficiency, and public land restoration;
- Education and literacy;
- Increasing health care access, public health awareness, and prevention;
- Providing community renewal to areas hardest hit by the economic crisis.

Classified employees and AP faculty are reminded that 16 hours of Volunteer Service Leave are allocated annually for the purpose of community service. You are encouraged to look for and participate in volunteer opportunities in your community and/or to create and register your own project at www.serve.gov. Your support of this important initiative is appreciated.
You Are Doing a Great Job

Employees are motivated to do their best when they are encouraged by and engaged with their supervisors about their work. Effective supervisors engage employees’ heads and their hearts. A friendly and nurturing atmosphere at work plays a huge role in employee retention; it fosters loyalty to the organization and creates a sense of ownership. Recognition of employee success is one tool that a good supervisor cannot afford to disregard.

Recognition does not have to cost money. Below are just a few techniques from "How to Recognize and Reward Employees" by Donna Deeprose that you might want to implement:

- Start every work unit meeting with praise for accomplishments and behaviors since your last meeting.
- When appropriate, circulate a thank-you letter signed by everyone in the work unit. This may be especially appropriate for under-recognized support personnel.
- Talk with employees about what they need to learn and do to progress to the next level in their career field.
- Arrange to have an article in the department newsletter describing the accomplishments of an employee or your work unit.

Other ideas include:

- Use the Acknowledgement of Extraordinary Contribution form to document employee work that exceeds expectations.
- Use the Immediate Recognition form to acknowledge individual or team success. In addition to cash gifts, supervisors may award up to 5 days of recognition leave per calendar year.

According to Roy Saunderson, president of the Recognition Management Institute, the following management characteristics have a direct measurable impact on morale, performance and employee willingness to go the extra mile:

- Employing a management philosophy that puts people first
- Encouraging a creative culture
- Listening to and caring for employees

GOVERNOR KAINES ANNOUNCES FINANCIAL TRAINING AND LOAN PROGRAM FOR STATE EMPLOYEES

- Virginia State Employee Loan Program to assist state employees with short-term needs and long-term financial literacy and planning -

RICHMOND - Governor Timothy M. Kaine today announced the establishment of the Virginia State Employee Loan Program, a unique partnership to help meet the short term loan needs of state employees as they manage through the worst economic crisis in generations. The pilot program, a partnership between the Commonwealth of Virginia Campaign (CVC) and Virginia Credit Union (VACU), will offer small loans $100 to $500 to state employees facing financial difficulties. As a requirement of the loan, borrowers will complete an on-line financial fitness course and exam to keep them on sound financial footing.

"This program will allow our state employees to receive small loans without having to go to predatory lenders," Governor Kaine said. "If the Commonwealth can offer this kind of program, other large employers may consider similar initiatives of their own."

Participants in the State Employee Loan Program must be a non-probationary state employee and a member in good standing with the VACU. Participants must be a member of the VACU, maintaining at least $5 in a savings or checking account. To qualify for a loan, participants must successfully complete an online financial fitness course followed by a 10-question financial literacy exam.

The loans will carry an APR of 24.99 percent and will be payable over six months with no prepayment penalty. Loans will be repaid through direct debit from employee’s VACU checking or savings accounts, in up to 12 semi-monthly payments. Employees can have only one loan at a time and may apply for a maximum of two loans annually. There will be no credit check for loans and the loans will not be reported to credit agencies.

A $100 loan will be repaid in semi-monthly payments, with a total repayment cost of about $108. A $500 loan will be repaid in semi-monthly payments, with a total repayment cost of about $540.

"We are proud to collaborate with the Commonwealth of Virginia Campaign and help administer this program to benefit state employees," said Jane Watkins, President/CEO of Virginia Credit Union. "Financial education is a major focus of Virginia Credit Union and we are pleased to see an educational component as part of the program."

Loans will be backed by the Virginia State Employee Assistance Fund (VSEAF), a 501(c)3 charity administered by the CVC team within the Department of Human Resource Management. Both CVC and VSEAF programs are run by state employees for state employees, and are funded solely from employee contributions, with no state tax dollars involved.

The Commonwealth of Virginia Campaign (CVC) facilitates state employee giving in Virginia. In the 2008 campaign, more than 24,000 employees gave $4.4 million. Employees may designate their gift to a specific charity (or multiple charities), to all the charities in their part of the state, or to all the charities in the campaign. With over 1300 charities, there are plenty of choices for employee giving. In the last 10 years, the CVC has raised over $35 million for charities.

To obtain further information and a loan application form, employees should go to the DHRM website - employee loan page at: http://www.dhrm.virginia.gov/vaemploan/.
