

Dave Hager's recollections about the partnership between ODU and EVMS

Hager: And so the same thing's happened with EVMS over the years: the doctoral program in biomedical sciences, all the joint research, the joint operational things we do with EVMS-the joint security, using each other's faculty. We haven't come to this one yet but it's going to happen-at some point we're going to find the right person, and we want to have a joint appointment between the two institutions. It's a little harder to pull off but they have some faculty needs like we do. We just have to find someone who's willing to live between the two institutions. (pg. 8)
