

Roy Martin's recollections about the the partnership between ODU and EVMS

Sweeney: Was there ever a possibility that the medical school in Norfolk would be located either at Old Dominion or be a part of Old Dominion?

Martin: Yes, I think it ... from the very beginning it had been hoped that the medical college and Old Dominion could work together. I don't believe that there was ever any consideration for it to be a direct affiliate or a subdivision of Old Dominion, by virtue of the fact that the college should be near the hospital the medical college should be near the hospital and interwoven with their operations. But I do know that in the years gone past there was hope that a lot of the premed courses and so forth could be possibly handled through Old Dominion University. (pg. 4)

Full interview at:

<http://dc.lib.odu.edu/cdm/compoundobject/collection/oralhistory/id/229/rec/1>