

ODU<sup>TM</sup> GENERAL EDUCATION REFORM

November/December 2025 Update

Fall 2025 was busy but productive. The reform committees closed out the semester by reviewing input from the campus community, refining the models we plan to develop further, and drafting guidelines for elements of the new program. We will be bringing more members of the campus community back into the process in the spring.

New Director of General Education

This fall we launched a search for the inaugural Director of General Education, a pivotal role that will provide leadership in maintaining academic quality, supporting faculty, and advancing the development and assessment of the curriculum. We are pleased to announce that Jenn Sloggie, University Distinguished Teacher and Master Lecturer of English, will assume the role of Director of General Education beginning in January 2026. Professor Sloggie has 26 years of experience teaching general education courses at ODU as well as extensive experience with academic program administration. She has served as the Faculty Liaison for Learning Communities, Director of General Education Composition, and Director of the Spring Conference on the Teaching of Writing. She is currently the Administrative Lead for the General Education Reform Initiative.

"I am excited to serve as ODU's first Director of General Education. As a Gen Ed teacher, I have been passionate about helping my students develop the knowledge and skills they need to be successful in their academic, professional, and civic lives. I see this role as an opportunity to develop a community of practice around General Education at ODU and to ensure that our work is aligned with best practices, that the program serves the best interests of our faculty and our students, and that those who teach Gen Ed courses feel supported and empowered to do the best they can for our students."
